Dear Student

We received information late on Wednesday that BTEC courses will be regraded, with new grades sent to schools next week. Your original grades for your BTEC courses were shown in the print out you received in your Sixth form results pack. We will post you the updated version as soon as we receive the new grades next week. We are optimistic that this may mean some BTEC grades may improve from those you receive today.

We are disappointed that this has been yet another significant, and last minute, change in the system this year for awarding grades so if you need any help or advice, just contact a member of the Sixth Form team.

If you are enrolling on a college or university course and this is affected by your BTEC grades, show staff at the college or university this letter, which makes it clear that you are waiting for updated BTEC grades.
